— FOUNDER • EDITORIAL VOICE

James Hicks.

30+ years in enterprise IT. Founded HicksNewMedia in 2010 to make technology make sense for the people who actually decide what gets built. Since then, the agency has grown into a multi-property network covering long-form video, editorial publishing, premium community, and brand strategy.

Editorial philosophy: No Hype. Just the Facts. The work treats audiences as adults — IT decision-makers, technical leaders, and creators who can tell the difference between substance and marketing.

Today HicksNewMedia produces flagship content under the @JamesHicks brand, runs Digital Collective (newsletter + premium community), publishes tek FORUM and Team No Sleep, and partners with brands that want to reach the people who matter most: the ones who sign the purchase orders.

- WHAT PARTNERS SAY

Trusted by builders.

Partners and collaborators on what working with James and HicksNewMedia is actually like.

James brings rare depth in both enterprise IT and content creation. Twelve years partnering on CES coverage has produced work I trust to put in front of executives.

Clifton Roberts

INTEL CORPORATION

There are few people I trust more to translate complex infrastructure topics into something a real audience cares about. Hicks does that consistently.

Joshua Strebel

PAGELY (FOUNDER)

James understands creator-economy production at a level most agencies miss. He treats audio and broadcast craft as seriously as the technology underneath.
